FR SYDNEY WRITES ...

We are now in the approach to Easter, and it is a sort of an ascent. The Lenten preparation is under way, and yet we look forward. Just as the Psalms climax with the Psalms of Ascent, pointing to the religious festivals in Jerusalem, and reaching their peak with the hymn of praise of Psalm 150, so we also are in an ascent, looking forward to what we will find at Easter. At one level of course, we know perfectly well what we will find: the Holy Week liturgies leading to the Paschal Vigil and the celebrations of Easter morning. But there is more than that to find. In celebrating the rising of Jesus from the tomb, we can see it as the faith of the church down the ages, to encourage and support us in whatever situation may engage us, and despite the intense efforts of the scoffers - whether in the first century, or now.

For us, the circumstances may be different, but the issues are not. Dare we put our faith and our hope in the new dimension of freedom that God offers us in Jesus Christ? Dare we seek to stop struggling to be in control, and start to rest in the new life that God opens up to us? Dare we even trust that God will lead us through the details of our lives into new perspectives, where new priorities reign and new parameters prevail? Dare we even stop seeking to achieve the Kingdom of God through our own efforts and contrivances, and start to see it unfolding as God's plan, centred on Jesus, empowered by the Holy Spirit and realized first of all within us - before it even moves from among us to the world beyond?

That is perhaps where the work of making the ascent of faith lies within our time and our lives.

This is a reminder that our Lent Appeal this year is for Macmillan Cancer Support. It is not too late to take a collection box. They are available at the back of the church. Please return them on Easter Day.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Lent Course has now met in the crypt for the last three Wednesdays, after Evensong and the Eucharist. There are three further sessions planned:

Wednesday 5 March	Week 4	One holy, catholic and apostolic church
Wednesday 12 March	Week 5	Personal Faith
Wednesday 19 March	Week 6	Corporate Faith

Anyone who wishes to take part is very welcome to do so.

On Saturday 5 April, the St Mungo's Fraternity of the Scottish Servers' Guild will hold its AGM at St Oswald's, King's Park after the sung Office of the Guild which will begin at 2.00 p.m. All are welcome, and further details and directions are available from Richard Smith.

There will be a celebration of the Eucharist with prayers for healing, the laying-on of hands and anointing with oil at 12.00 noon on Saturday 29 March. All are welcome to attend and, should they so wish, to request prayers for healing. If anyone wishes more information on this form of the ministry of healing, please do not hesitate to contact Sydney Maitland.

ST BRIDE'S DAY

A big thank you to everyone involved in providing the splendid St Bride's Day lunch! The food was excellent if perhaps a little over abundant (though my dog did not quarrel with that). It was very good to see the younger members of the congregation set to and serve the meal with such speed and efficiency. A special thank you to Roy Parkin for arranging the catering.

Mary Sillitto, Lay Representative

There are others more qualified than me to write a report about the St Bride's Day celebrations, but one point I should like to mention. Those responsible for making the catering arrangements were thanked on the day. I would like to add a big "thank you" to the young waiters and waitresses who served us so well and allowed us "old folks" to sit back and relax.

CHURCH FONTS

Fountains are frequently found at the back of the church, near the centre aisle, which itself represents our journey through life to God. In some places in the past, you had to be baptised to go any further into the building. Because the water was blessed at Easter and then used throughout the year, fountains had to be impermeable which is why many are lined with lead. Lids were used to protect the water from dust and dirt or theft for use in magic. Most covers are simple ones like ours but they can be very ornate. There is one which has an eighteen foot spire.

Although we now bless the water on the day of the baptism, it is interesting to note that the Russian Orthodox community still blesses it once for the whole year. They had a special service in St Bride's in the middle of January, by our calendar. This would fall about the same time as we would celebrate the naming of Jesus if we allowed for the difference in dates.

Our font, like many others, has eight sides. The octagon is a symbol of Jesus, unifying heaven and earth. It is seen as halfway between a circle (God) and a square (earth). Hence Jesus, the incarnation of God on earth, is represented by an octagon. At baptism, heaven and earth touch. This idea of heaven and earth meeting also applies to pulpits, often eight sided, since it is from here that the preacher communicates the word of God.

Some information has been taken from "How to Read a Church" by Richard Taylor (2007).

EASTER FLOWERS AND CHURCH CLEANING

The church will be open for cleaning and decorating on Saturday 22 March from 10.30 a.m. The large bottle for donations for Easter flowers is at the back of the church. If you can normally gift aid your church giving, please let me know and we can claim the tax back on anything you give for flowers also. You can start using the gift aid scheme now if you would like to let the church benefit from the tax you pay.

RUSSIAN ORTHODOX CELEBRATIONS

The Russian Orthodox community will be celebrating their fifth anniversary as a parish in Glasgow on Friday 7 March, at 6 p.m. for Vespers and Saturday 8 March at 11.00 a.m. They will have an exhibition of photographs and a lunch after the liturgy on the Saturday morning which will be celebrated this time by Bishop Elisey. I am sure they would appreciate it if some of us could attend at least part of one of their services.

For anyone who has not been to an Orthodox service, you should know that everyone stands, except for the sermon. The old, sick, or pregnant women may sit. All the ladies, whatever age, wear skirts and cover their heads. The singing is unaccompanied. It is led by a small choir, with participation by the congregation in the litany and, of course, the common sections such as the creed.

We are grateful for their assistance in the cleaning and decoration of the church for St Bride's Day.

Eileen Maitland

USE OF OILS

Holy oils form part of our liturgy in the anointing of the sick, as part of the ministry of healing, and in the setting of people apart for the further service of God, as at Baptism, Confirmation, and Ordination. Our healing services use the anointing with oils according to the petitions of the suppliants: for some, it is a direct and personal healing for themselves or one close to them, when the oils of healing are used. On other occasions, it is the oil of chrism and anointing for Christian service that is used - for example when the petition is for a cleared sense of personal direction and ministry or Christian service, the renewal of faith or a new release of the Holy Spirit.

There is an efficacy in all sacraments, however the anointing with oil is not a substitute for faith or commitment, even though a person may ask that personal faith and commitment be strengthened. Nevertheless, it is the combination of the personal seeking for a blessing, the anointing with oil and the shared intercession of suppliant and priest which forms the central part of the ministry of healing, in which all present are seeking the presence of God within their personal needs and situations.

In this sense we move from addressing God - "Our Father, which art in heaven" to worship - "hallowed be thy name" and commitment "Thy Kingdom come, thy will be done".

A NEW SONG

As mentioned in last month's Oystercatcher, March 2008 sees the tenth anniversary of the first performance of A New Song by James MacMillan, which was commissioned by Nicholas Russell in memory of his mother Kath and to mark the seventieth birthday of his father Jimmy. Ten years and one day after the first performance, the work is being performed again at the Sung Eucharist on 2 March 2008, though we aren't expecting the composer to be present this time as he was ten years ago.

Nicholas receives the Oystercatcher each month by e-mail, and has written the following letter to the Choirmaster, Organist and Choir of St Bride's:

It is such an honour that you should acknowledge the tenth anniversary of A New Song. I have now heard it multiple times by multiple choirs – most recently by John Scott at St Thomas, Fifth Avenue.

None shall replace the premiere performance in emotional power – and I am truly grateful for your belief in the piece.

The Vestry has been made aware of difficulties being experienced by some members of the congregation in travelling to church on Sundays following recent timetable changes. Anyone who is having transport problems is invited to contact one of our Pastoral Assistants: Jack Brand, Alison Gifford or Eddie Minnis.

VESTRY REPORT

At its meeting on 19 February, the Vestry heard a report on savings which had been identified in heating the Crypt. It was hoped to identify further savings in the near future.

The training of the Pastoral Assistants was reviewed, and it was noted that they would become more involved in services by leading Evensong on Wednesdays and the intercessions at the Eucharist. Mr Roy Parkin had been elected a lay member of the Diocesan Council. Good wishes would be sent to the Russian Orthodox congregation, who were celebrating their fifth anniversary. Arrangements for Holy Week and Easter were discussed.

The Treasurer reported that the deficit for the year was less than at the same time last year. However, Diocesan Quota would be substantially increased for 2008 as a result of Dr McClelland's legacy being partially assessed for Quota. It was agreed to install a CCTV camera in the organ loft. Repairs had been carried out to the roof following the January gales.

A meeting had taken place with representatives of the Crypt Youth Club to discuss matters of concern. This had been helpful, and it had been agreed that members of the Vestry should meet the Youth Club representatives every three months in future.

It was agreed to give a home in St Bride's to the chamber organ from the German church in Hughenden, which was closing down.

It was agreed that refurbishment of the kitchen was becoming an urgent matter. A full discussion would take place at the next meeting.

The next Vestry meeting will be held on Tuesday 1 April.

THE WAYMARKS OF THE PASSION

When I survey the wondrous cross on which the Prince of glory died.....

In ancient times, Christians used to make pilgrimages to Jerusalem for Holy Week. One popular activity while they were there was to walk the route from Pilate's house to Calvary, stopping for devotion to commemorate various events which took place along the way.

Of course, most people didn't do this every year, but they got so much spiritual benefit from walking the route to Calvary, that they thought out a way to do it at home. They made carvings or pictures of each of the events along the way, and placed them at intervals, either outdoors or in a church. Then they could walk the route, stop at each place for devotion and relive the experience. It also made the experience accessible to people who couldn't afford to travel to Jerusalem. The church in Rome commemorated all the events of Holy Week on Easter Day until the 11th century. At that time, they adopted the widespread custom of observing the events of Palm Sunday, Holy Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday on the appropriate days before Easter Day. In 1342, the Franciscan monks of the Roman Catholic Church were put in authority over the Holy Land, where they became familiar with the Stations of the Cross, and decided to promote them as a devotional discipline.

The number of stations and the events commemorated at each station varied from place to place. By the 18th century, the number of stations became fixed at 14, and the whole devotion was completely standardised in the 19th century. Of the fourteen stations, eight are preserved in Christian scripture, and six in Christian memory. In the 20th century, during his incumbency as Rector of St Bride's, Fr J.J.Clelland (1964-73) and the Vestry decided to replace the unglazed sepia and black prints depicting the Stations of the Cross which were displayed on the radiators around the church only during Holy Week. Several conceivable Stations were considered. The views of the congregation were sought by the Rector, as was his customary practice, and the present Italian light wood sculptures were chosen. Accordingly, to complement these and their sitings, the chairs in the North Aisle were removed to facilitate a 'Via Dolorosa' and enable a processional route around the church.

*Love so amazing, so divine,
Demands my soul, my life, my all.*
